

Information Strategist

Decision Inc. 2011 – current

I am responsible for managing and coordinating the Data, Information and Analytics (DIA) engagement managers as well as assisting with administrating and managing the Johannesburg DIA department of the Decision Inc.

I was previously responsible for the management of consultants to ensure the successful implementation of various Information Management (IM) projects on time, within budget and with the required functionality and quality by applying proven project management methods and technology and development best practices.

I am very involved in mentoring and coaching the new consultants, managing different DIA clients, client issues, expectations and engagement management.

Rousseau Kluever Senior Client Partner

With lots of energy I enjoy engaging clients and helping them become successful in their respective industries, specializing in the space of information management and business intelligence. I use nine years of expertise, skills and industry knowledge to engage clients and the project teams to help ensure successful project implementations.
