MAZIMISE VALUE

When you power Qlik Sense and QlikView with Qlik NPrinting, you gain a powerful, single platform solution for your analytics and reporting. View your reports easily from any device.

CREATE STUNNING REPORTS

Create reports in all popular formats including Microsoft Office . Simply drag-and-drop existing tables, charts, and objects. Interact with the data behind your charts right from your reports.

Combine several Qlik Sense or QlikView objects into a single report. Then build your analytics once and create reports out of it and generate multiple versions of a report.

Create professional grade reports in advanced layouts using PixelPerfect. Get advanced control over banding, scripting, formatting, and graphics - allowing you to produce high-quality custom assets. HTML reports can be published to the web or embedded in emails, allowing users to access reports without the need for attachments.

MANAGE REPORTS FROM A SINGLE PLATFORM

Retire your legacy tools: now you only need one platform for analysis and reporting. Leverage existing data models and visualisations from Qlik Sense and QlikView. Embed links to your Qlik analytics applications within your reports - encouraging everyone to explore further, dig deeper, and discover the whole story in their data.

Execute tasks simultaneously even during high volume reporting. Improve reliability, load balancing, and task prioritisation – leveraging a server cluster to deliver more reports to more people without worrying about performance. And now you can ensure the right message is sent to the right audience with row-level security and filters.

Control access to reporting features and data with role-based security - you can define any number of security profiles at the app level. Assign multiple roles to a single user. And customise profiles with high granularity using a wide range of permissions. Be certain your reports always feature the latest data from your apps.

SEND REPORTS DIRECTLY OR PUBLISH THEM

Centrally schedule, generate, and deliver custom reports through multiple channels including email, corporate directories, web, the Qlik NPrinting NewsStand portal, or directly to the Qlik Sense hub. Distribute reports on custom schedules or only when conditions are met. Ensure the right report is sent to the right people using their preferred delivery method.

Allow users to explore then request reports based on pre-built templates. Enable users to refine through selections and searches – they can generate reports based on the current selection state.

Let users explore, view, download, and subscribe to reports online after your organisation sets up the role-based security in the Qlik NPrinting NewsStand. The NewsStand provides a centralised portal for better convenience .It allows everybody to get the right reports when and how they need them.
